Day 02 - Munnar

Breakfast

Dinner

Munnar is situated at the confluence of three mountain streams – Muthirapuzha, Nallathanni and Kundala – and the word 'Munnar' means three rivers in Malayalam. Situated about 1600m above sea level, the hill station had been the summer resort of the British Government during the colonial era. Situated at an altitude of 1,600 meters (5,200 ft) above sea level in the Western Ghats. Munnar enjoys a pleasant climate year-round, making it a popular destination for visitors. The hills are dotted with vast tea plantations, a hallmark of the region. The rare Neelakurinji flower, which blooms once every 12 years, attracts many visitors. The highest peak in South India, Anamudi, is located in Munnar and is a popular trekking spot. Munnar is home to a diverse array of flora and fauna, including the endangered Nilgiri Tahr in Eravikulam National Park. Munnar was once the summer capital of the British in South India, and remnants of this past can still be seen in the area.
